justify their appointment.

The Commissioners took another step, also, yesterday, in the matter of completing the board of supervisors called for. The law provides that the presidents, respectively, of the three boards of examiners to gether with two lay members, one of whom shall be a lawyer, shall constitute the board of supervisors, with authority to make regolations for its own government, and charged with the duty of selecting questions for examination of candidates. The lay members were appointed yesterday after-noon, Attorneys J. J. Darlington and John

The West Washington Hotel case was again brought to the board's attention, subequent to the proceedings of the morning, s given in The Evening Times, through a rief filed by Atterney C. In this paper Mr. Smith again cited that there was no record evidence against the applicants; that while the board is alleged to have sworn testimony affecting the character of the house, it was the testimony presented to the police court, which could

Referring to a suggestion made by President Johnson at the hearing in the morning to the effect that to reconsider the matter and grant a license to the applicant would set a bad precedent, Mr. Smith re-plies that to reject a license on a mere sus-picion would jeopardize the business of every hotel in the District and put their licenses at the mercy of their enemies.

It would, he added, in effect defeat the very purpose of the proviso relating to hotels.

A good deal of stress is laid in this A good ceal of stress is and in this controversy upon the opinion of Attorney Thomas, who has stated in several instances that the hotel has a right to the liceuse upon showing compliance with the law, and that the board is without option UNJUST TO REFUSE.

The attorney says that as the hotel is located on a business street and has been is operation for a number of years, it is unjust to refuse a license, jeopardize an investment and ruin the business of reputable cutizens merely upon the suspicion that something has occurred hereto-fore which cannot be approved. The charge made by the police against the house under its former manager was that liquor was sold on Sunday.

FEAST OF ST. ALOYSICS.

Today Will Be Appropriately Observed Today, the feast of St. Aloysius, is the screenty-fifth anniversary of the first com-munion of the Pope, Leo XIII. Nearly three weeks ago Cardinal Satolli invited the chil-dren of this archdiocese, and in fact, the Catholic children of the United States, to catooic chairer of the United States, to make it an especial occasion by receiving the holy commusion. At the request of his eminence, and upon the invitation of the apostolic ablegate, the children will receive the holy sacrament for the intention of their beloved supreme pontiff.

In this they will not be alone, for the Catholic children of the world will today approach the altar and receive the bread of proach the altar and receive the bread of life in honor of the first communion of Pope Leo XIII. The words of the illustrious Leo have gone forth to the mighty ones of earth in behalf of law, order, truth and the poor; now he appeals to the innocent little ones and asks them for their prayers which they will be pleased to offer for him on the anniversary of his first communion.

In 8t. Aloysius' Church, corner North Capitol and I streets, Cardinal Satolli will celebrate postifical mass at 11 cited to the communion.

engaged in the grain and provision business at the corner of Faith and K streets northwest.

Mr. Smith stated in his bill of complaint that he and the defendint formed a partnership about November I, hast. It was to be discontinued at the solicitation of either partner at the explication of three months. The complainant wanted to withdraw at the time mentioned, but James, he asserted, would not permit the dissolution of the firm unless he was given $500. Smith refused to do this The latter stated that he had discovered that James had withdrawn while a clerk of the firm $177$ in excess of the salary due him. Other overdrawals, he claimed, were made after the partnership was formed; so that James secured about $250 too much. The sum of $191.11 was lost by the firm while the partnership existed.

Smith said that a proposition was made to submit the matter of a settlement to arbitrators, and this was agreed to February 25; last, but later James withdrew from the agreement. Three days later James withdrew from the firm.

On April 7, the complainant said, James wrote creditors of the firm not to pay any money to Smith, and thus the latter has been prevented from collecting $700. Smith said it was all a scheme of his former partner to extort money from him, and asked for an accounting and for authority to settle up the partnership.

The close of this week will see a prac tical conclusion of the present term of court, and an adjournment will be taken until October in all the branches of the supreme able that the only criminal court in seasion, Judge Cole's court, will hold overuntil July 6, but the bulk of the court work will wind up with the end of the week. The Holt will case is the only civil suit of any consequence that will be heard. Judge Bradley has several times announced that this must be closed by July 1, and it is not improbable that the case will go to the jury by the close of the present week. Judge McComas is already winding up af-fairs in his court, circuit part, No. 2, and will leave early next month with his wife and daughter for a summer abroad.

GEORGE M'CAULEY'S TRIAL. The busiest week in the city is expected in Judge Cole's court. The trial of George McCauley, the famous criminal, who came so near causing the death of Detective Sutton, will begin Monday. He is charged with assault with intent to kill, and the government feels that it has a very strong case against him.

Following this trial will come those of some of the produce dealers indicted for violation of the oleomargarine laws. There are fully two score of these cases on the criminal docket and though it will be im-possible to try all at this term of court the District attorney has signified his in-tention to dispose of as many of the BUSINESS WELL IN HAND. "The beginning of this summer's vacation will find criminal business cleared up closer than it has ever been in the history of the than it has ever been in the history of the District attorney's office," said Mr. Jeffords, Mr. Birney's assistant, yesterday afternoon. "There will be no man in jail after July 6 who was held there on a charge prior to July 1. The work of the grand jury will be cleared up to the first of next month.

"There are not now over half a dozen cases where persons are in tail awaiting."

"There are not now over half a dozen cases where persons are in jail awaiting trials. Outside the oleomargarine cases there are not more than ten or twelve, beyond what we call stock cases, who are out on bail. All the prisoners that remain in jail during the summer, those charged with penitentiary offenses, I mean, will be placed there after July 1."

It is always customary for the Aprilgrand jury to continue its sessions until October. There will therefore be no adjournment of that body. The grand jurors will doubtless take a recess about the beginning of the coming month and meet for a few days at the end of about every three weeks during the summer.

CASE OF CHUN GUN. In the equity courts there is comparatively little unfinished business. Sunday Night Music Club. The usual meeting of the Sunday Night Music Club was held at the residence of Miss Elsa Ulke, the evening being devoted to the music of Schumann, who was born June 8, 1810.

The program included two of his quartets, and a selection from his "Paradise and Peri," the libretto of which is based upon Moore's "Lailah Rooht," and was played the same evening in Lelpsio, where they played a program in memory of Madam Clara Schumann.

After the regular program the club played some miscellaneous compositions, including Mendelsshohn's "Capriccioso Brilliant" for plano and string accompaniment.
